

Blue Ridge Mountain EMC worker Clayton Wood strings lights around the Christmas tree on the Hayesville town square on Tuesday. The Norway spruce now requires a bucket truck to reach the top which reaches about 25 feet. It was about 10 feet when planted three years ago. The CCCRA official lighting of the tree will be held on the night of the Hayesville Christmas Parade which is Saturday, Dec. 10. The parade starts at 6 p.m. Decorating of the courthouse and the courtyard continues this week.
